The list of reminders and notifications would be updated with information such as the date and location of the parents next drop-in session.

Which features do yo mean? @K1630532

Our client said that the homepage should contain a notification, which displays a pop-up of the user of their own next drop in session.

We have not implemented the feature to add parents to specific groups yet, so the notification feature would not be functional. It is also not a vital feature for the effort it would take.

I think the course page and home-work tasks are more vital.

This includes to present the 80x page information in a user-friendly way.

The top logo is too long to put it on the view, so I decided to cut it into two parts, and converted one of parts into text view.
